Monthly Newsletter from Pawsitive Vet Care

GRASS SEED SEASON

This time of year is not great for dogs running through grass - grass seeds attach to your dog's coat and can burrow into the skin, or fall into ears, causing all sorts of problems. Check your dog thoroughly, particularly between the toes, after every walk and contact us if you notice violent shaking of the head, or chewing feet.

GOING ON HOLIDAY?

Are you going to try to get away with the restrictions lifting? By joining Trusted Housesitters you could get accommodation in exchange for looking after someone else's pets, or find someone to look after your own pets. Visit <https://bit.ly/TrustPaw> for more information.

GUINEA PIGS

The 16th July is Guinea Pig Appreciation Day! These cute little creatures are full of character and great fun to be around. Because they don't need annual vaccinations, they often don't see a vet unless they are very unwell. We will be offering half price wellness visits for guinea pigs between the 13th and 17th July. See the link overleaf to book.

VISIT APPOINTMENTS

As the Covid-19 restrictions are lifting, we are now able to offer more visit slots. There will now be 4 available appointments per day rather than 2.

These will be at 9.30am, 11.30am, 2.30pm and 4.30pm. We still ask for a video consultation prior to any appointments for new conditions to reduce time spent in your home, and will do consultations in the garden where possible.

You can book appointments online at <https://vetpawsitive.appointlet.com>

KEEP YOUR CAT SAFE

Wandering cats are at risk from traffic, fighting, and many other dangers. Éowyn has finally learnt to jump my fence so I have ordered a ProtectaPet cat fence to keep her safely in the garden. Keep an eye on Facebook for the installation journey! You can get £50 off a ProtectaPet fence by using the code PAWSITIVE.
